One of the greatest challenges in prescription medication is a simple fact: some patients just don't like taking medicine. From a child who can't stand the taste of a cough syrup to a cat who absolutely refuses to take an antibiotic, rarely is taking medicine a pleasurable experience.

It doesn't have to be that way. Each patient is unique with certain likes and dislikes. Others have difficulty swallowing a pill. A distinctive solution to these issues is flavored medicine.

Medicine doesn't have to taste bad.

FLAVORING FOR ADULTS AND CHILDREN

A prime advantage of compounding is its ability to customize medication. What's one of the ways to customize? Flavor! Martin Avenue Pharmacy's pharmacists have access to many flavors and flavor combinations, which can enhance the taste and color of a medication to make it easier to swallow.

A child who has difficulty taking a prescription because of the taste is a prime candidate. He or she won't mind taking medication that tastes like bubblegum, watermelon, or even chocolate. And working closely with a physician, Martin Avenue Pharmacy, Inc. can even change the dosage form.

Many adults also may benefit from flavored medication. As people age or battle a chronic illness, taste preferences can change. Often, sweet flavors can become unbearable. Or bitter flavors may cause nausea. In these instances, a Martin Avenue Pharmacy pharmacist can alter or mask certain flavors in order to make medicine more palatable without changing the medicine itself. When re-flavoring antibiotics, for instance, careful consideration is given to the measurement of pH in order to maintain the medicine's stability. Whether you prefer a distinct flavor or no flavor at all compounded medications may be of benefit to you.

FLAVORING FOR ANIMALS

Cats, dogs, exotic pets and even zoo animals are also prime candidates for flavored medication. Cats don't like pills, but they do like fish. Dogs don't appreciate a squirt of traditional amoxicillin into their mouth, but they'll gladly take it if it tastes like chicken.

Working closely with a pet owner and a veterinarian, Martin Avenue Pharmacy can custom flavor a medication to fit the tastes and preferences of all kinds of animals. There's beef, cheese, chicken and liver for dogs; fish for cats. Horses prefer alfalfa, cherry, apple, carrot, and molasses. Even birds, rodents and reptiles have favorites.

And like humans, some animals may require alternate dosage forms such as pastes, custards, or chewy treats. Cats are notorious for eating right around a pill disguised in food, but the right combination of flavor and appearance can take the struggle out of medicating your pets.
